

Workshop Track	Workshop Title	Workshop Description	Presenters
Training	Working With Tribal Communities – What Do I Need to Know?	Child support cases that involve Native American children require cooperation between counties and tribes. This workshop will introduce some of the cultural knowledge and communication skills child support professionals need to work successfully with Native American customers.	DCSS Statewide Training Branch
Program Delivery	Tribal Child Support Court Orders	Ever wonder what to do with a Tribal Child Support Court Order – where do I start? Come to this workshop to learn what LCSA staff need to know to be successful in working these cases, i.e., paternity establishment, service of process, “in-kind” orders, modification, Income Withholding Orders.	Allan Woodworth, Judge Blake, John Berglund, Ed McCue
Statewide Collaboration	Intergovernmental Agreement With Tribes and Where it Can Take the IV-D Child Support Program	Hear how IV-D programs in California and Washington have used agreements to effectively coordinate service delivery and program outcomes to children and families in Indian country. Learn what a government to government relationship is and why it is important.	George Chance, Jim Kucharek, Brady Rossnagle